PERSONAL SUMMARY

I'm an active undergraduate student majoring in Computer Network Engineering with a strong interest in computer networking, especially in Cisco technologies. Throughout my studies, I've learned and applied key networking concepts such as IP addressing, subnetting, VLANs, static routing, and basic configuration of Cisco devices. I'm also familiar with using Cisco Packet Tracer for lab exercises and assignments. While I haven't had formal work experience yet, I'm highly motivated to learn, work with others, and take on real world challenges in the IT networking field
